

CAN'T TELL HOW HE GOT TO CITY

Dandy, of Allegheny, Awoke on Bowery with a Revolver, Which He Hurried to Give to the Police—Mind a Blank.

Robert Dandy, a machinist, twenty years old, of No. 307 Perry street, Allegheny, Pa., was arrested in Special Sessions today on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. On the night of Sept. 25 Dandy went into the Oak street station and, placing a loaded revolver before Sgt. McCarthy, said: "I want you to take this pistol, mister, because I'm afraid I'll harm myself with it. I don't know where I got it. In fact, my mind is blank about a lot of things."

The sergeant took the revolver and then looked the man up. To-day Dandy told the justice that he had been feeling queer ever since August.

"I don't remember leaving Allegheny," he said, "and all I know is that I came to the Bowery and found I had this pistol. I thought the best thing was to give it to the police."

The justice turned the man over to Probation Officer Baker, who will communicate with Dandy's relatives in Allegheny.

SINGER CAN'T CHANGE TUNE

Louise Hury Ordered by Court to Pay Lawyer She Retained to Sue Husband for Alleged Cruelty.

Louise Hury, the pretty songstress, who, at eighteen years, is suing for a separation from her second husband, Robert Hury, who wrote her songs, cannot change her lawyer with the traditional irrepressibility of her sex. Justice Scott so decided today in the Supreme Court.

In the midst of a row between Louise and Robert in their apartment in 1014 Broadway, the latter, who is a singer, called in the neighbors, among them Jacob Gordon, a lawyer. Next day she signed a complaint in a suit for separation on the ground of cruelty, and Mr. Gordon served it on Van Alstyne.

Later on the singer decided she would rather have another lawyer and retained him, saying nothing about Gordon.

She wanted to discontinue the suit begun by Gordon and start all over again with her new lawyer, but Justice Scott says she can't do that without first paying Gordon his fee.

Louise Hury is sister of the Mayor of Manchester, Va. She says she was married on Christmas, 1921, when she was only fourteen years and a month old, to "Joe" King. She got a divorce from him in May, 1924, and married Van Alstyne within a month.

RESERVOIR GANG OF BOYS FREE

Five, Including Two Shot When They Attacked Policeman Hauke and Wife, Let Go Under Suspended Sentence.

The five boys arrested on Aug. 28 last on a charge of felonious assault, referred by Policeman August A. Hauke, of Brooklyn, who alleged they attacked him and his wife on the Highland Boulevard, while he was on his way to the reservoir to get water, were arraigned before Magistrate Connon, at Flushing today.

The boys are all the sons of respectable parents and range from fourteen to eighteen years. Two of them were shot by the policeman and have been in the Bedford Hospital ever since.

The policeman said he was in his shirt sleeves and the boys could not see he was an officer. Magistrate Connon changed the charge to disorderly conduct and suspended sentence. They declared the policeman attacked them first and when they closed in on him used his revolver.

BENDER GETS DELAY IN COURT

Justice Howard Restrains Investigation of State Charities Fiscal Supervisor by Civil Service Commission.

ALBANY, Sept. 28.—The State Civil Service Commission today was prevented by a court order from investigating charges of soliciting and collecting campaign assessments made against Justice Howard, Supervisor of State Charities.

The jurisdiction of the commission is upheld by the Attorney-General, but Supreme Court Justice Howard granted the restraining order, returnable at Hudson on Oct. 7.

The writ is also directed against Phil H. Gordon, Secretary of the Civil Service Reform Association, and Edwin A. Doty, former employee of the office of the Fiscal Supervisor, upon whose affidavit the investigation is based.

ARC LIGHT KILLED HIM.

Heavy Street Lamp Fell on George, Causing Instant Death.

George Gorringe, twenty-three years old, of Coveville, N. J., was instantly killed early today in that village by the falling of a large street arc light. The lamp struck Gorringe squarely on the head, fracturing his skull.

Coroner Pell will hold an inquest, and the Public Service Corporation may be censured for criminal carelessness.

HITCHCOCK ACTS ON MAIL STRIKE

Acting Postmaster-General Calls Contractor to Account and Declares Drivers Tie-Up Must Not Hurt Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Failing to secure satisfactory mail-wagon service in New York City by reason of the continued strike of the drivers, the Post-Office Department today announced that the contractor and his sureties have been formally notified that an improvement must be made at once or summary action will be taken under the contract.

The department has taken no official notice of the strike and does not intend to do so, but it has been decided that protests of patrons of the New York City Post-Office no longer can be ignored.

Acting Postmaster-General Hitchcock believes that ample time has been given the contractors to bring the service up to the contract standard and yesterday he sent a telegram to the sureties for Charles H. Walcott, the contractor, stating that he does not think the contractor will be able to enter upon a proper performance of the contract.

JUROR ORDERED OUT BY JUDGE

Michael J. Butler, Serving in the Trial of Two Boys for Larceny, Told by Court to Leave Room.

Michael J. Butler, a traveling salesman, who has been serving as a trial juror in the September panel in Part II, General Sessions, was today ordered out of court by Judge Newburger.

Butler was serving as a juror in the trial of two boys for larceny, when his condition attracted the attention of Judge Newburger, who summoned him to the bar and said:

"Mr. Butler, if you will leave the courtroom, I will permit you; if you do not I will commit you. You are very well. Your Honor," said Butler, and he saluted and left the room.

U. OF M. GETS PROF. HUSSEY.

Prof. Hussey is now on his way from Egypt, where he conducted an expedition to Assuan to observe the total solar eclipse of Aug. 15.

Bad Teeth Mean Bad Health.

Before you go to any other Dentist see Dr. G. Gordon Martin and get his free advice on your condition—With your teeth loose or missing, or with plates or bridge-work in your mouth, you have the cause of most of your bad health—Get your teeth in good shape and your health will come back of itself.

If your teeth are in bad shape you are in bad shape all round, whether you know it or not, for if you cannot chew your food properly you cannot digest it properly, nor can the nutrition your system needs, and not only will you have stomach trouble, but bad breath, bad gums and bad looks. Sound teeth are of the very first importance to sound health. Any doctor will tell you that.

Most people put off having their teeth fixed until they are down to the last stage of decay, if not altogether lost, on account of the natural fear of pain. Then when they go to the dentist it usually results in bridge-work or the insertion of plates, both of which are temporary expedients. Bridge-work comes loose and sometimes breaks the good teeth to which it is fastened; and plates not only accumulate food, which rots in the mouth and causes a most offensive breath, but they actually rot the membranes of the mouth, so that the remedy is more than the disease itself. Yet until very recently these two methods were the only ones by which dentistry was enabled to deal with tooth troubles.

Science and humanity are indebted to a physician and dentist named G. Gordon Martin for the discovery of a new and radical process in dentistry by which, without pain and with all the firmness of a perfectly natural growth, lost teeth are replaced and impaired ones restored, so that the patient is renewed in all the vigor of youthfulness.

Dr. Martin, who is a thoroughly qualified physician as well as a highly skilled dentist, gave fifteen years of his time and practically all of his income to perfecting it, and then came to New York as the best center from which to offer its benefits to his fellow men and women.

At a time when the dental profession in the leading Dental College of Chicago, in 1903, in the presence of members of the faculty and leading dentists of Chicago, he operated with complete success on the most hopeless case they could find for him. The patient was a middle-aged woman, Mrs. Bella Evans, who now lives at 114 Lexington Ave., New York City. Mrs. Evans at that time had only seven teeth left, any one of which she could have pulled out with her fingers, they were so loose. Not only that, but her gums had receded and were discharging pus, and the membranes of the mouth were softened and going. Mrs. Evans had been to most of the dentists in Chicago, and had offered herself in despair to clinic after clinic, only to be told that nothing could be done for her. Life under such conditions was worse than a burden. It was because of this case, and the fact that the dentists in charge at the college submitted it to Dr. Martin, whose ability to do what he claimed to do had been doubted with the same smiling incredulity that always greets a great discoverer. They could do nothing with this case, and they didn't believe he could, either. He hasn't been smiled at since, for he succeeded so well that within ten days Mrs. Evans had a full set of firmly seated teeth, the loose ones tight and the lost ones made good by new ones set solidly in the gums; and more than that, the gums themselves were restored to a healthy condition, the discharge of pus had entirely ceased and the lining of the mouth was once more clean and sound. And all of this had been accomplished without inflicting any pain whatever.

Dr. Martin calls his process the Alveolar Method. Strictly speaking, it is not a method, but a process, and the United States and six countries of Europe have granted him protection as its discoverer, so that it can only be applied by him or by some one authorized by him. Spence does not permit a description of it here, further than to say Dr. Martin has found a way whereby his art can restore a natural condition, not by purely natural means, but by artificial means which work along natural lines.

Dr. Martin does not confine himself to the treatment of cases abandoned by others as beyond cure, though he confidently takes and successfully treats all such cases when they come, and invites the most hopeless, wherever they may live, to submit their troubles to him and let him help them. He is a highly accomplished practitioner in every branch of the department of dental work down to the simplest and up to the most complicated, and his treatment of every known disorder of the teeth and gums, even the slightest, is marked not only by thorough knowledge and skill, but by gentleness as well as thoroughness. His patients, whether their cases be extreme or easy, are unanimous in their testimony that he never inflicts the torture which is supposed to be an unavoidable part of all dental operations, but restores them to ease and comfort painlessly and in a remarkably short time, whatever the nature of the case.

Dr. Martin has prepared a handsome illustrated book describing his Alveolar Method, and will be pleased to give a copy of it to any one who calls for it or writes. The doctor is willing to extend the benefit of his human discovery and skill to all, wherever they may reside, and people who live at a distance may write to him freely, depending upon a prompt and explicit response, enclosing a free copy of his book. It is best to call, of course, for a direct examination, but in a case where the doctor makes without charging anything for it.

No one having tooth or gum trouble of any kind need suffer another day. Dr. Martin and his corps of specialists are very busy, but they always find time to talk freely with any sufferer who personally calls or who shows promptly any one of the writers. Address: G. Gordon Martin, M. D., D. S. (Inc.), Suite 304, 210 Fifth Ave., cor. 2d St., New York, N. Y.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

HUMILIATING—VILE—DESTRUCTIVE

The very name, Contagious Blood Poison, suggests contamination and dread. It is the worst disease the world has ever known; responsible for more unhappiness and sorrow than all others combined. Nobody knows the origin of this loathsome trouble, but as far back as history goes it has been regarded the greatest curse of mankind.

No part of the body is beyond the reach of this powerful poison. No matter how pure the blood may be, when the virus of Contagious Blood Poison enters, the entire circulation becomes corrupted, the humiliating symptoms begin to appear, and the sufferer finds himself diseased from head to foot with the vilest and most destructive of all poisons. Usually the first symptom is a small sore or ulcer, so insignificant that it rarely ever excites suspicion, but in a short while the skin breaks out in a red rash, the glands of the groin swell, the throat and mouth ulcerate, the hair and eye-brows come out, and often the body is covered with copper-colored spots, pustular eruptions and sores.

There is hardly any limit to the ravages of Contagious Blood Poison; if it is not driven from the blood it affects the nerves, attacks the bones, and in extreme cases causes tumors to form on the brain, producing insanity and death. No other disease is so highly contagious; many an innocent person has become infected by using the same toilet articles, handling the clothing, by a friendly handshake or the kiss of affection from one afflicted. But no matter how the disease is contracted, the sufferer feels the humiliation and degradation that accompany the vile disorder.

Mercury and Potash are commonly used in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison, but these minerals cannot cure the disease—they merely mask it in the system. All external evidences may disappear for awhile, but the treacherous poison is at work on the internal members and tissues, and when these minerals are left off the disease returns worse than before, because the entire system has been weakened and damaged by the strong action of the Mercury and Potash. There is but one certain, reliable cure for Contagious Blood Poison, and that is S. S. S., the great vegetable blood purifier. It attacks the disease in the right way by going down into the blood, neutralizing and forcing out every particle of the poison. It makes the blood pure and rich, strengthens the different parts of the body, and cures this vile disorder permanently.

The improvement commences as soon as the patient gets under the influence of S. S. S. and continues until every vestige of the poison is driven from the blood and the sufferer is completely restored to health. S. S. S. is not an experiment; it is a success. It has cured thousands of cases of Contagious Blood Poison, many of which had given the Mercury and Potash treatment, Hot Springs, etc., a thorough trial, and had almost despaired of ever being well again.

S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and does not injure the system in the least. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that it contains a particle of mineral of any kind. If you are suffering with this despicable and debasing disease, get it out of your blood with S. S. S. before it does further damage. We will gladly send our book with instructions for self-treatment and any medical advice, without charge, to all who write.
